CARRANZA HOLDS FIRST POSITION

General Villa Is Subordinate to Rebel Chieftain.

INSURGENTS ON GOOD TERMS

Internal Peace Parley at Torreon Reaches an Agreement on Vital Points and Apparently Reunites Rebel Factions—Villa Declares He Hopes Conference Will Be Beneficial to Mexico.

Torreon, Coahuila, Mex., July 8.—General Venustiano Carranza has been recognized as first chief of the Constitutional revolution and General Francisco Villa is subordinate to him.

This confirmation of the relative positions of Carranza and Villa was regarded as the most important step taken by the internal peace parley here intended to reunite the Villa and Carranza factions.

In settling this point the question of supplying the division of the north which Villa commands, coal and ammunition, probably will find an automatic solution.

While General Villa owes Carranza absolute subordination Carranza on the other hand is obliged to meet the wants of the Villa troops.

The conference is ended so far as vital points are concerned. The statement was made that the result of the meetings were satisfactory. General Villa said:

"I hope that the outcome of the conference will be beneficial to Mexico and that the patriotic motives will cause the compact to be kept."

PLANS TO INCREASE STOCK

Soe Line May Make an Issue of $18,000,000.

St. Paul, July 8.—Stock of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railway company is to be increased this fall by $18,000,000, according to circulars which are to be sent to the road's stockholders announcing a stockholders' meeting to be held in September to vote on the issue. The new issue will be common stock. Circulars announcing the meeting have been prepared.

Present holders of the common stock, of which $25,000,000 is outstanding, will be permitted to subscribe to the new stock at par. This will no doubt be taken advantage of, as Soe common is now approximately 123 and pays 7 per cent.

The present authorized capital of the company is $28,000,000 of common stock, of which $25,000,000 is outstanding, and $4,000,000 of preferred, of which $12,000,000 is outstanding. It is the purpose of the directors to increase the total capital stock to $60,000,000.

IMPORTS SHOW INCREASE

Slight Gain in First Eight Months of New Tariff.

Washington, July 8.—Foreign manufacturers sent into the United States during the first eight months of the new tariff system just 8.8 per cent more of their finished product than they did under the old.

This was pointed out by Secretary Redfield as ample demonstration that there was no ground for the fears of American factory owners that they would be driven from business by the Democratic tariff.

VOTE FRANCHISE EXTENSION

Kansas City Street Car Company Wins Out at Election.

Kansas City, July 8.—Kansas City voted to extend the franchise of the Metropolitan Street Railway company nineteen years, returns indicating the franchise carried by about 7,000. The vote was the heaviest ever cast in a special election here.

The present franchise has eleven years to run, but the company asked the nineteen-year extension in order to refinance.

SWISS TUNNEL IS FLOODED

Train Derailed When Underground Stream Bursts Retaining Walls.

Brigue, Switzerland, July 8.—The Simplon tunnel was inundated by a subterranean stream which burst through the retaining wall and flooded the tunnel to a depth of two feet.

A train was derailed in the middle of the tunnel, but no one was hurt. The passengers were obliged to walk several miles to Iselle.

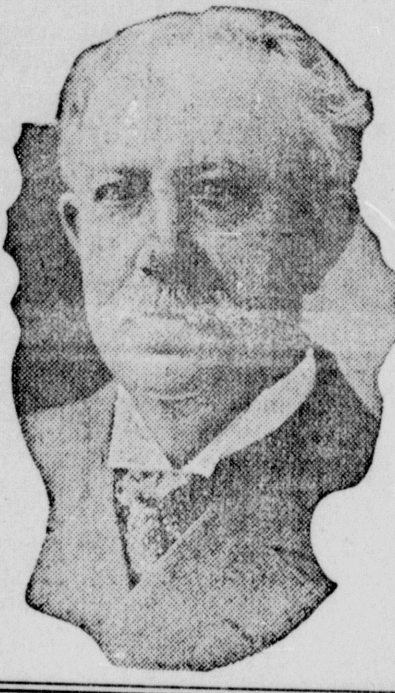

AUSTRIA PREPARES FOR WAR

Artillery Being Moved to the Serbian Frontier.

Paris, July 8.—A dispatch to the Temps from Belgrade, Serbia, says extraordinary military activity is being displayed in Austria-Hungary. Forty carloads of artillery are known to have left Budapest for the frontier and feverish energy is being shown along the whole northern border of Serbia.

DAVID STARR JORDAN.

Will Become President of National Educational Association.

TWO OPPONENTS WITHDRAW

Dr. D. S. Jordan Will Head Educational Association.

St. Paul, July 8.—Dr. David Starr Jordan will be the next president of the National Educational association and will be elected Thursday without opposition. This was made certain when Dr. David B. Johnson, at a conference with twenty-five of his supporters, read a statement in which he announced his withdrawal from the race and paid a tribute to Dr. Jordan, for whom he asked the unanimous support of his friends.

The withdrawal of Dr. Johnson was followed by that of L. R. Alderman of Portland, Ore., the only other avowed candidate.

PICTURE OF HEAVEN COMFORTS INDIAN

Served Thirty-four Years in Federal Insane Hospital.

Washington, July 8.—Spoonie, the Blackfoot Indian who was released from the federal hospital for the insane after serving thirty-four years of a life sentence for murder, will start back to the Blackfoot reservation in care of an agent of the Indian bureau.

Speaking through an interpreter he explained how he had fought against the insidious environment of the insane asylum. He had treasured an old picture of heaven and whenever his fellow prisoners started a brain racking demonstration he said he "thought of the picture."

The word "purifies" learned the Indian applied it to "something that would make his heart clean," and now he writes his name "Purifies Spoonie."

He had adopted no particular religion, he explained, since he learned that sometimes there was dissension among the different churches of the white man, but he clung to the conviction that there was a supreme being.

ELECTION RIOTS OCCUR IN ITALY.

Rome, July 8.—Violence marked the elections for city and provincial councils which have been going on throughout Italy for the last few days.

In the constituency where Prince Borghese was a candidate a serious riot took place in which one man was killed and another seriously injured.

COMPTROLLER IS ARRESTED

Louisville Official Charged With Embezzling Funds.

Louisville, July 8.—Samuel M. Wilhite, city comptroller and prominent in Louisville club and social circles, was arrested charged with embezzlement of city funds, following a report by expert accountants that they had discovered a shortage of approximately $14,500 in the comptroller's office.

Wilhite is alleged to have confessed that since 1911 he has been taking contractors' bonds, deposited in the city treasury as surety, and securing loans on them for his personal use. Bonds to the amount of $14,500 were reported missing from the treasurer's office.

DIAMOND SWINDLE EXPOSED

Trusted Employee of Baltimore Jewelry Firm Arrested.

Baltimore, July 8.—One of the largest diamond swindles here in recent years came to light with the arrest of Louis Kappelman, accused of stealing gems valued at $6,000 from a local jewelry company.

It is understood that in the fifteen months the alleged thefts have been going on about $50,000 in jewelry was taken.

Automobile Factory Destroyed.

Port Huron, Mich., July 8.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the plant of the Havers Automobile company in this city. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

OLDER SENATORS KEEP GOOD PLACES

Important Committees So Large That They Are Unwieldy.

PLACES FILLED BY FEW MEN

As a Result Business Is Frequently Neglected—Assignments Should Be More Evenly Distributed Among All Senators—Western States Clamor For Passage of Conservation Measure.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, July 8.—[Special.]—The senate of the United States knows that there is something the matter with it, but it hesitates to take action which will bring about a cure. There is constant complaint about the lack of attendance at committee meetings. Many times a senator explains his absence by saying that he was attending the session of another committee. Probably the senators know that the committees as now constituted are entirely too large.

Some acknowledge that. They also know, but few acknowledge it, that the distribution of important committee places is not wide enough. The older senators have loaded themselves down with important committee assignments, and as these give them power they will not surrender any of the places. As a consequence committee meetings conflict and business is neglected.

Perhaps men cannot be blamed for selfishness, but it would be a good thing if the theory which was attempted at the beginning of the present congress could have been carried out and the committee assignments spread over the entire senate instead of being confined to a small number.

How It Works.

There are six or eight important committees, and toward the close of the session four or five are the real working committees. Now, it is almost a certainty that the oldest senators will have positions on at least two if not more of these committees. The meetings are held in the forenoon, and the senator spends a short time in each committee and as he goes out tells them to count him present and vote him for reporting a bill or against reporting it, as the case might be. He still has the power in the committee, but he often lacks the information as to how he should vote.

However, the senators know this, and from time to time they have gone on increasing the membership of committees in order that more senators can have good places, with the result that the committee work is less effective than it ever was before.

Executive Order Reservations.

There was a discussion in the senate not long ago about the reservation of public lands in the west and a general protest against so much land being withheld from settlement. There was some criticism passed upon what was called "executive order reservations."

This was not directed any more to the present administration than former administrations. Probably more reservations of this kind were made under President Roosevelt than any other one man. The criticism coming from Democratic senators indicates that they may be able to make some changes. Colorado, Nevada, Arizona and Montana, states that complain about having large areas reserved, are represented by Democratic senators. They may get a change under the Wilson administration.

Insists Upon His Rights.

A bill was being passed in the senate, and one senator said that he wanted a separate vote on one of the amendments. "But they have all been concurred in," said the vice president. "It was done expeditiously," remarked Senator Clarke of Arkansas, who has some differences with the vice president about parliamentary law.

"I am trying to move along," he said, and Mr. Marshall.

Senator wanted a point of order, and the vice president said: "The chair will not point of order to be withdrawn after it has been sustained. The chair has some rights."

Fight For Their Own.

There ought not to be anything like logrolling or special favoritism in the naval appropriation bill, but there are mighty few bills appropriating money that do not have some selfish interests to advance. Just now every naval appropriation bill has an inside contest as between the navy yard at Norfolk and the one near Philadelphia. The navy needs a new drydock for the big battleships, but the contest between these two places for that particular dock is so great that neither point gets it. Some day there will be a logrolling proposition which will mean Philadelphia and Norfolk getting together instead of fighting, and each will get a drydock.

What They Think of Washington.

It would be interesting to know what the thousands of tourists think of Washington, particularly those who came during the extreme hot spell. Thousands of excursionists visited Washington, and they tramped and perspired from one public building to another "seeing the sights." It is a fact, however, that these sightseeing outfits do not seem to mind the climate.

Later On.

"Say, have you forgotten you owe me 100 francs?" "No, not yet. Give me time."—Pete Mele.

INQUIRY BEGINS THURSDAY

Grand Jury Will Probe Mysterious Murder of Woman.

Freeport, N. Y., July 8.—The grand jury will begin its investigation of the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey on Thursday at Mineola, the county seat. District Attorney Smith announced. He added that he will demand that an indictment charging murder be returned against a woman who he said he is positive shot Mrs. Bailey in the office of Dr. Edwin Carman.

Upon what evidence the demand for the indictment will be based the district attorney would not say. He admitted there was a possibility the grand jury might not heed his demand because of insufficient evidence.

TRUSTED CONVICT MAKES HIS ESCAPE

Given Easy Job as Reward for His Honesty.

Leavenworth, Kan., July 8.—John Doe No. 10, hailed last week as the most honest convict in the Kansas penitentiary, escaped. He walked away from the prison pump house, to which post he was attached after his refusal last week to accept a parole intended for another convict.

John Doe No. 11 was paroled last week by Governor Hodges for his good work in aiding the construction of the new twine plant at the state prison. In making out the papers, however, a clerk made them read John Doe No. 10. The papers came to the latter individual and he told the warden the papers were not intended for him.

Because of his honesty the convict was given an easy job at the pump house. When his guards were not about he escaped.

DESTROYER SINKS FRENCH SUBMARINE.

Toulon, France, July 8.—The French submarine Calypso was sunk by the destroyer Mosque-ton during maneuvers. The crew of the Calypso were saved.

It is thought it will be impossible to salvage the submarine on account of the great depth at which she is lying.

IRISH RIVALS ORGANIZING

Tailors Busy on Nationalist Uniforms.

London, July 8.—The increasing probability of an amicable settlement of the home rule question has not halted the speedy organization and the equipping of the rival volunteer forces in Ireland. Dublin tailors have been overwhelmed with orders for uniforms for the Nationalist volunteers.

It is reported that 200,000 rounds of ammunition were landed on the County Down coast under the noses of destroyers patrolling the coast. It was for the Ulster volunteers.

BIG SHRINKAGE IN INCOME

Great Northern Falls Off Nearly Four Million Dollars.

St. Paul, July 8.—The Great Northern railway has issued its earnings statement, showing decreases in operating income of $1,044,456.40 in May and $3,865,471.36 for the first eleven months of the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1913.

May was the poorest month in the eleven, when the operating revenue was $5,867,567.15, or $1,140,382.84 less than in May, 1913.

For the eleven months operating revenue was $69,239,922.67. For the corresponding period the previous year it was $71,856,890.87. Operating expenses were $42,282,312.45; net operating revenue, $27,047,680.22; operating income, $22,817,769.82. Taxes for the eleven months increased $495,823.65.

DECIDES TO FILE SUIT IN EQUITY

CHICAGO POLICE HAMPERED

Total Absence of Motive in Quadruple Murder.

Chicago, July 8.—Hampered by an apparent total absence of motive the police continued the search for the murderer who killed Jacob Mislich, his wife, their daughter, Mrs. Martha Mansfield, and her seven-months-old infant with an axe Sunday night.

The police were loath to believe that the slayer was the mysterious axe murderer credited with the deaths of twenty-five persons killed with axe blows in the past three years in the Middle West.

The principal object of the search is a half-witted man, a former boarder with the Mislich family, who had difficulties with Mislich. William Mansfield, son-in-law of Mislich, who has not been seen by the family for a year, also is sought. No evidence implicated either.

READY TO FIGHT AEROPLANES

British to Erect Defense Towers at Vulnerable Points.

London, July 8.—As a defense against attacks by air craft the British government decided to dot the coasts of the British isles with a series of towers, each armed with two quickfiring guns of special design. A complete circle of towers is to be erected around naval stations such as Portsmouth and Rosyth and at other specially vulnerable points.

Attorney General Seeks Dissolution of New Haven Road.

NEGOTIATIONS BROKEN OFF

Action Will Be Begun Under the Sherman Act in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York—Papers May Be Filed Before End of the Present Month.

Washington, July 8.—The long series of negotiations between the government and the New Haven railroad to bring about the reorganization of the road without an anti-trust suit have ended in failure.

As a result of recent developments in the situation Attorney General McReynolds definitely has decided to file a suit in equity under the Sherman act for the dissolution of the road. The suit will be filed in the United States district court for the Southern district of New York. It is expected to be filed before the end of the month.

It is the same bill of indictment which was prepared by the department of justice last October, but was held up when Chairman Howard H. Hott of the New Haven initiated his efforts to obtain an agreement with the government for the reorganization of the road without litigation.

The failure of the negotiations is due directly to the refusal of the New Haven to sell its stock in the Boston and Maine road under the conditions fixed by the Massachusetts legislature.

It was necessary that the Massachusetts legislature amend the charter of the Boston holding company which controls the Boston and Maine, so that the stock might be sold in accordance with the terms of the agreement signed by Attorney General McReynolds and Chairman Hott last January.

WELSH SECURES DECISION

Beats Ritchie for Lightweight Championship of the World.

London, July 8.—Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of England, out-boxed Willie Ritchie, the American champion, and on the referee's decision won the lightweight championship of the world.

The fight took place at Olympia and the 8,000 spectators witnessed a fast and clever bout. Rapid footwork and a good deal of infighting were pronounced features. The British victory was cheered to the echo, although there was some dissatisfaction among the American spectators at the decision because neither man was bested at the finish. Although Welsh scored the greater number of blows those of the American appeared to be the more telling.

It was a fine exhibition of boxing throughout. Neither man went to the floor and the struggle during the last six rounds was of a hurricane character.

The Iron Duke's Birthday.

The Duke of Wellington himself never knew exactly when he was born. He thought it was May 1, but his biographers are not at all agreed on the point—their dates ranging from April 29 to May 6. The discrepancy probably arose from the confusion between the old and new styles of reckoning time. Queen Victoria, at any rate, was content to accept May day as the date of the "Iron Duke's" birth, seeing that she gave his name, Arthur, to her soldier son, who happened to be born on this date in 1850.—London Chronicle.

DENIES SHARE IN MINE DEAL

Comptroller Williams Reiterates Innocence.

Washington, July 8.—Comptroller Williams, before a senate committee investigating charges of misuse of official letterheads for promotion of a North Carolina gold mining project, reiterated his statement that he had no interest in the property and denied that he even arranged a conference between the promoter and the prospective buyer.

Magnolia, Mass., July 8.—Frank Knox Morton Rehm, an artist of New York, died suddenly just outside his summer home. Mr. Rehm, who was born in Philadelphia sixty-six years ago, had been awarded medals and prizes for his marines, landscapes and portraits in many exhibitions.

TO RECONSIDERPresident Wants New Yorker on Reserve Board.

IS SAID TO BE WAVERING

Wilson Sends Telegram to Banker Asking Him to Reconsider His Decision Not to Serve—President Believes He Will Have Hard Time Finding Another Man as Familiar With Foreign Banking Conditions.

Washington, July 8.—With President Wilson urging Paul M. Warburg, the New York banker, to reconsider his request that his nomination as a member of the federal reserve board be withdrawn it was reported in circles close to the White House that Mr. Warburg is wavering and that there is a possibility of his changing his mind.

Mr. Warburg and the president's secretary, Mr. Tumulty, talked over the telephone and Mr. Warburg then expressed his determination not to take the place. Later President Wilson telegraphed urging him strongly to reconsider his decision.

The president is said to believe that he will have a hard time finding another man as familiar with foreign banking conditions who will accept the place.

Members of the senate banking committee were inclined to consider that Mr. Warburg had eliminated himself finally by his telegram to Chairman Hitchcock declining to appear and submit to questioning by the committee.

No action has been taken by the committee on the nomination of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago, who appeared to tell of his connection with the International Harvester company. The president is insistent on confirmation and there has been no suggestion that Mr. Jones' nomination will be withdrawn.

CALL DEAD MEN MARTYRS

New York Anarchists Will Hold Public
Mourning.

New York, July 8.—The ashes of three of the victims of last week's dynamite explosion will be the object of public mourning by anarchists, Industrial Workers of the World and other sympathizers in Union square Saturday afternoon, according to announcement by Alexander Berkman.

The plan of Berkman, Leonard Abbott, president of the Free Speech league, and others to hold public services Saturday for the three men who are dead—Arthur Caron, Charles

ALEXANDER BERKMAN.

Berg and Carl Hansen—was blocked by the refusal of the health authorities to allow the bodies to remain unburied until that day.

Apparently the city authorities have found no way to prevent a demonstration being held Saturday. They can forbid the holding of a parade, but cannot, it was pointed out, prevent the agitators from taking the ashes into Union square. There the friends of the three men, according to Berkman, purpose to set up urns containing the ashes and pronounce the men martyrs while the police are being denounced.

In descending a hill the driver lost control and the machine, after wobbling from side to side, ran off a bank and turned over twice.

The dead are William Mechzen of Clymer, who was driving the car, and James Cooney, a farmer living near Covington.

OLDER SENATORS
KEEP GOOD PLACESImportant Committees So Large
That They Are Unwieldy.

PLACES FILLED BY FEW MEN

As a Result Business Is Frequently Neglected—Assignments Should Be More Evenly Distributed Among All Senators—Western States Clamor For Passage of Conservation Measure.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, July 8.—[Special.]—The senate of the United States knows that there is something the matter with it, but it hesitates to take action which will bring about a cure. There is constant complaint about the lack of attendance at committee meetings. Many times a senator explains his absence by saying that he was attending the session of another committee. Probably the senators know that the committees as now constituted are entirely too large.

Some acknowledge that. They also know, but few acknowledge it, that the distribution of important committee places is not wide enough. The older senators have loaded themselves down with important committee assignments, and as these give them power they will not surrender any of the places. As a consequence committee meetings conflict and business is neglected.

Perhaps men cannot be blamed for selfishness, but it would be a good thing if the theory which was attempted at the beginning of the present congress could have been carried out and the committee assignments spread over the entire senate instead of being confined to a small number.

How It Works.

There are six or eight important committees, and toward the close of the session four or five are the real working committees. Now, it is almost a certainty that the oldest senators will have positions on at least two if not more of these committees. The meetings are held in the forenoon, and the senator spends a short time in each committee and as he goes out tells them to count him present and vote him for reporting a bill or against reporting it, as the case might be. He still has the power in the committee, but he often lacks the information as to how he should vote.

However, the senators know this, and from time to time they have gone on increasing the membership of committees in order that more senators can have good places, with the result that the committee work is less effective than it ever was before.

Executive Order Reservations.

There was a discussion in the senate not long ago about the reservation of public lands in the west and a general protest against so much land being withheld from settlement. There was some criticism passed upon what was called "executive order reservations."

This was not directed any more to the present administration than former administrations. Probably more reservations of this kind were made under President Roosevelt than any other one man. The criticism coming from Democratic senators indicates that they may be able to make some changes. Colorado, Nevada, Arizona and Montana, states that complain about having large areas reserved, are represented by Democratic senators. They may get a change under the Wilson administration.

Insists Upon His Rights.

A bill was being passed in the senate, and one senator said that he wanted a separate vote on one of the amendments. "But they have all been concurred in," said the vice president.

"It was done expeditiously," remarked Senator Clarke of Arkansas, who has some differences with the vice president about parliamentary law.

"I am trying to move along," said the senator.

The senator wanted a vote on the amendment, and the vice president said: "The chair will not allow a point of order to be withdrawn after it has been sustained. The chair has his rights."

Fight For Their Own.

There ought not to be anything like logrolling or special favoritism in the naval appropriation bill, but there are mighty few bills appropriating money that do not have some selfish interests to advance. Just now every naval appropriation bill has an inside contest as between the navy yard at Norfolk and the one new drydock for the big battleships, but the contest between these two places for that particular dock is so great that neither point gets it. Some day there will be a logrolling proposition which will mean Philadelphia and Norfolk getting together instead of fighting, and each will get a drydock.

What They Think of Washington.

It would be interesting to know what the thousands of tourists think of Washington, particularly those who came during the extreme hot spell. Thousands of excursionists visited Washington, and they tramped and perspired from one public building to another "seeing the sights." It is a fact, however, that these sightseeing outfits do not seem to mind the climate.

Later On.

"Say, have you forgotten you owe me 100 francs?" "No, not yet. Give me time."—Pele Mele.

Baffling Murder Mystery.

INQUIRY BEGINS THURSDAY

Grand Jury Will Probe Mysterious
Murder of Woman.

Freeport, N. Y., July 8.—The grand jury will begin its investigation of the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey on Thursday at Mineola, the county seat. District Attorney Smith announced. He added that he will demand that an indictment charging murder be returned against a woman who he said he is positive shot Mrs. Bailey in the office of Dr. Edwin Carman.

Upon what evidence the demand for the indictment will be based the district attorney would not say. He admitted there was a possibility the grand jury might not heed his demand because of insufficient evidence.

TRUSTED CONVICT
MAKES HIS ESCAPEGiven Easy Job as Reward for His Honesty.

Leavenworth, Kan., July 8.—John Doe No. 10, hailed last week as the most honest convict in the Kansas penitentiary, escaped. He walked away from the prison pump house, to which post he was attached after his refusal last week to accept a parole intended for another convict.

John Doe No. 11 was paroled last week by Governor Hodges for his good work in aiding the construction of the new tinning plant at the state prison. In making out the papers, however, a clerk made them read John Doe No. 10. The papers came to the latter individual and he told the warden the papers were not intended for him.

Because of his honesty the convict was given an easy job at the pump house. When his guards were not about he escaped.

DESTROYER SINKS
FRENCH SUBMARINE.

Toulon, France, July 8.—The French submarine Calypso was sunk by the destroyer Mosquito during maneuvers. The crew of the Calypso were saved.

It is thought it will be impossible to salvage the submarine on account of the great depth at which she is lying.

IRISH RIVALS ORGANIZING

Tailors Busy on Nationalist Uniforms.
Ulster Ammunition Landed.

London, July 8.—The increasing probability of an amicable settlement of the home rule question has not halted the speedy organization and the equipping of the rival volunteer forces in Ireland. Dublin tailors have been overwhelmed with orders for uniforms for the Nationalist volunteers.

It is reported that 200,000 rounds of ammunition were landed on the County Down coast under the noses of destroyers patrolling the coast. It was for the Ulster volunteers.

BIG SHRINKAGE IN INCOME

Great Northern Falls Off Nearly Four Million Dollars.

St. Paul, July 8.—The Great Northern railway has issued its earnings statement, showing decreases in operating income of $1,044,456.49 in May and $3,865,471.36 for the first eleven months of the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1913.

May was the poorest month in the eleven, when the operating revenue was $5,867,557.15, or $1,140,382.84 less than in May, 1913.

For the eleven months operating revenue was $69,239,922.67. For the corresponding period the previous year it was $71,856,890.87. Operating expenses were $42,282,312.45; net operating revenue, $27,047,680.22; operating income, $22,817,769.82. Taxes for the eleven months increased $495,822.85.

CHICAGO POLICE HAMPERED

Total Absence of Motive in Quadruple
Murder.

Chicago, July 8.—Hampered by an apparent total absence of motive the police continued the search for the murderer who killed Jacob Mislich, his wife, their daughter, Mrs. Martha Mansfield, and her seven-months-old infant with an axe Sunday night.

The police were loath to believe that the slayer was the mysterious axe murderer credited with the deaths of twenty-five persons killed with axe blows in the past three years in the Middle West.

The principal object of the search is a half-witted man, a former boarder with the Mislich family, who had difficulties with Mislich. William Mansfield, son-in-law of Mislich, who has not been seen by the family for a year, also is sought. No evidence implicated either.

READY TO FIGHT AEROPLANES

British to Erect Defense Towers at Vulnerable Points.

London, July 8.—As a defense against attacks by air craft the British government decided to dot the coasts of the British Isles with a series of towers, each armed with two quickfiring guns of special design. A complete circle of towers is to be erected around naval stations such as Portsmouth and Rosyth and at other specially vulnerable points.

Attorney General Seeks Dissolution of New Haven Road.

NEGOTIATIONS BROKEN OFF

Action Will Be Begun Under the Sherman Act in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York—Papers May Be Filed Before End of the Present Month.

Washington, July 8.—The long series of negotiations between the government and the New Haven railroad to bring about the reorganization of the road without an anti-trust suit have ended in failure.

As a result of recent developments in the situation Attorney General McReynolds definitely has decided to file a suit in equity under the Sherman act for the dissolution of the road.

The suit will be filed in the United States district court for the Southern district of New York. It is expected to be filed before the end of the month.

It is the same bill of indictment which was prepared by the department of justice last October, but was held up when Chairman Howard Elliott of the New Haven initiated his efforts to obtain an agreement with the government for the reorganization of the road without litigation.

The failure of the negotiations is due directly to the refusal of the New Haven to sell its stock in the Boston and Maine road under the conditions fixed by the Massachusetts legislature.

It was necessary that the Massachusetts legislature amend the charter of the Boston holding company which controls the Boston and Maine, so that the stock might be sold in accordance with the terms of the agreement signed by Attorney General McReynolds and Chairman Elliott last January.

WELSH SECURES DECISION

Beats Ritchie for Lightweight Championship of the World.

London, July 8.—Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of England, outboxed Willie Ritchie, the American champion, and on the referee's decision won the lightweight championship of the world.

The fight took place at Olympia and the 8,000 spectators witnessed a fast and clever bout. Rapid footwork and a good deal of ingighting were pronounced features. The British victory was cheered to the echo, although there was some dissatisfaction among the American spectators at the decision because neither man was bested at the finish. Although Welsh scored the greater number of blows those of the American appeared to be the more telling.

It was a fine exhibition of boxing throughout. Neither man went to the floor and the struggle during the last six rounds was of a hurricane character.

The Iron Duke's Birthday.

The Duke of Wellington himself never knew exactly when he was born. He thought it was May 1, but his biographers are not at all agreed on the point—their dates ranging from April 29 to May 6. The discrepancy probably arose from the confusion between the old and new styles of reckoning time. Queen Victoria, at any rate, was content to accept May day as the date of the "iron duke's" birth, seeing that she gave his name, Arthur, to her soldier son, who happened to be born on this date in 1850.—London Chronicle.

Mme. Poincare, Beautiful and Talented, Not Recognized by Royalties. The present political troubles in France have been augmented by attacks upon the wife of the president, Mme. Raymond Poincare. She has already been made to suffer in a social way. The French nobility, who still form the predominant element in French fashionable society, have helped to injure Mme. Poincare's position at home and abroad by sneering at her origin. Her name was Henrietta Beninucci, and she was formerly an Italian actress. Her enemies also criticize her because she was divorced from her first husband. Her divorce was entirely free from discredit to her, which cannot be said of all the divorces obtained by fashionable women. She was unhappily married to a man who was entirely unworthy of her. Raymond Poincare, then a middle aged leader of the bar, fell in love with her, and they were married as soon as she was able to obtain a divorce.

Since Poincare was elected he has been the guest of two kings, and in each case his wife was not invited.

Mme. Poincare is a very beautiful woman, much younger than her husband, with a very refined, sympathetic and intellectual face. In charm and distinction of appearance she would overshadow many of the queens of Europe, which may be one reason why she is not welcomed at court.

URGES A THREE CENT PIECE.

American Society For Thrift Shows How It Would Be Aid to Economy.

A ham sandwich for 3 cents, a chocolate ice cream soda and a street car ride for the same amount is the glittering prospect offered by the American Society For Thrift, which has worked untiringly for a three cent coin.

George E. Roberts, director of the mint, has received a letter from the society setting forth reasons for the coinage advocated.

"In Cleveland sandwiches may be purchased for 3 cents, which are about the same as five cent sandwiches in other cities," the letter states. "Evidently a very large amount of business is done with a nickel simply because that is the smallest coin current for many purposes."

"Mr. Strauss, president of the society, will return shortly from Europe and probably will appear before the appropriations committee of the senate on the matter of a bill for an international congress of thrift, and if it could be arranged we would like at the same time, formally if necessary, to present the national need of a three cent piece."

FRIENDS AND ENEMIES.

Cherish your friends and avoid making enemies. Whatever the number of a man's friends, there will be times in his life when he has one too few, but if he has only one enemy he is lucky indeed if he has not one too many.—Bulwer.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for weak kidneys.

Let a Brainerd citizen tell you how they work.

A. D. Lindberg, 720 Elm St., Brainerd, Minn., says: "Some time ago I was an awful sufferer from kidney complaint. The secretions from my kidneys were unnatural, and I had a dull, heavy pain in my back. It was almost impossible for me to bend over, and when I caught cold the trouble was worse. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills that I got at Johnson's Drug Store, and they rid me of the pains and other kidney ailments. I haven't had any kidney trouble to speak of since."

POLICE GET UP A POSSE

Ride Out in Three Autos to Loerch and Stop the Riot Brewing Out There

FOUR FINNS WERE ARRESTED

Chief Quinn, Officer Scott and Eight Citizens With Rifles Stop Fight

When the call for help came from Loerch, Sheriff Reid and Deputy Sheriff Theorin being at Crosby tracing down the murder case, Chief of Police Quinn got busy and organized a posse. In three automobiles Chief S. W. Quinn, Officer Scott, S. P. Coffrain, Art White, R. M. Sheets, Charles Sherlund, Pete Rosko, Will Britton, W. H. Crowell, City Engineer C. D. Peacock and W. J. Magnan, all armed with high power rifles, whirled down the road to Loerch. At the railway camp they found an angry mob around the foreman's quarters.

Sonny Coffrain, who fought in the Philippines and is used to brush fighting, perched on the top of an automobile covering the mob. The rest of the posse lined up on the ground with their guns in position.

W. H. Crowell and Chief Quinn talked with Foreman F. B. Berglund and his wife. It appears that the dispute involving the camp of Finnish railway laborers arose over wages and the paying of board. The foreman had discharged some men yesterday and the whole gang quit.

The Finns chased the foreman into the camp kitchen, threw rocks at him, injured the male cook and armed with rocks, clubs and knives the twenty-five made things look serious and a call was sent in for help from Brainerd.

The sight of the rifles and the prompt arrival of the Brainerd delegation quickly subdued the mob spirit. Mrs. Berglund pointed out the ring leaders and four who had been active in battering the house with rocks were arrested and taken to Brainerd where a hearing will be had this afternoon.

"IF MAN HAD A TAIL"

Said Chicago Professor, "He Would Wag It," Claims Evolution Proves It

Chicago, July 8.—"Man once wore a tail," asserted Elliot Downing, assistant professor in the University of Chicago, in a lecture yesterday in which he defended the theories of the evolution of man.

"The fact that man has all the equipment necessary to wag a tail is evidence of his evolution from the ape," said the professor. "Why should he have all the tail muscles if he hadn't once had a tail?"

He said there are 198 useless bits of organism in man's bodily composition that he once made use of.

RIPPED OPEN HIS BANK

$650 Sewed in Shoulder of Jewelry Worker's Coat Falls Easy Prey to Thieves

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Thinking that abstinence from participation in card games in the smoking room, pools on the daily run of the ship and attempts to make financially secure the future of each steward aboard would enable him to travel from Russia to New York with his $650 intact, Max Mortreich, a jewelry worker, sewed the money into the shoulder of his coat before he started.

But so true is it that excess of caution is just about as bad as no caution at all that when the jewelry worker landed he was without assets. Some fellow passenger on board the President Grant had cut a hole in the padded shoulder.

Mortreich asked the police and the immigration authorities to assist him in getting his money back. While the police said they would like to extend any encouragement in their power, they were forced to the conclusion that the $650 was gone.

KILLS WIFE WHILE DRUNK

Special to Dispatch:

Crosby, Minn., July 8.—Eli Vaillancourt, of Crosby, at 3 o'clock this morning murdered his wife with a razor or some sharp instrument and a posse of Crosby is searching the woods for the man. The Vaillancourts came from Cloquet three months ago and kept a boarding house in Crosby. They have a family of seven, the youngest a baby, the oldest 20 years old. Vaillancourt was 49 years old and his wife 37.

One of the little girls saw her father carrying a knife as he left the house. He had been drinking heavily, it is reported. Sheriff F. J. Reid, Deputy Sheriff Claus A. Theorin and County Attorney G. S. Swanson were soon on the scene, rushing from Brainerd to Crosby in an automobile.

Vaillancourt has not been apprehended as yet. He is 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 165 pounds. His complexion is dark, with dark hair speckled with gray and is quite bald, has fair sized mustache and wore a blue serge suit.

D. A. Peterson, of the Merchants and Clerks committee, has received this letter from Edward L. Rogers, of Walker, county attorney of Cass county wherein he paints the beauties of Walker and sets forth its merits as the picnic grounds for the next Merchants and Clerks picnic. Mr. Rogers says:

"With reference to the Brainerd Merchants and Clerks annual picnic, I have taken the matter up with the Walker Commercial club and they are extremely anxious that you come to Walker this year. They will agree to do anything that you may suggest to make your outing an agreeable one. Just let me know what you want and we will get it.

"We will give you the use of our ball grounds to play any team that you may wish. We will arrange it so that there will be enough boats on hand for those that will want to go fishing and we will have plenty of fish in the lake.

"For those that may want to dance in the evening we will see that they are taken care of and as for food we will see that there will be plenty of that.

"I have a 58 foot boat on the lake which will be at your service and will be free to your association.

"Come on up. You will have a good time and we will be glad to have you with us.

MAINE HAS A BOY WONDER.

Literary Talents So Frightened Grandparents They Called a Doctor.

Ralphard Peters, five years old, of Skowhegan, Me., reads and memorizes the most difficult literature, such as Gray's "Elegy," and can pronounce any word in the English language correctly. Noted specialists have examined him with wonder. If he hears a song once he will immediately repeat the words and sing the tune as if he had been trained for several days.

He could read when two and one-half years old. He reads the Bible to his grandparents and explains the paragraphs.

His pronunciation came easy. He advanced so rapidly that his grandparents became alarmed and consulted a physician.

SCHOOL BOARD CONSIDERS PARKS

Board Takes up Proposition Broached by the Park Commissioners at Last Meeting

TO IMPROVE LINCOLN SCHOOL

Ventilating System to be Installed—Washington School to be Painted

At the regular school board meeting all members were present except Messrs Wise and Mollanen and Rev. Elov Carlson. Vice President Geo. D. LaBar presided.

Members of the park board, Messrs Adair, Strickland and Linnemann, appeared before the school board and asked that some plan be carried out in conjunction with the city council and city attorney to use the Sixth street school lots and grounds in Southeast and Northeast Brainerd for park purposes. The school board appointed a committee of one member from each of the first, third, fourth and fifth wards, being Messrs. Purdy, Hohman, Barron and McCloskey, to act with the city council and city attorney.

The Northern Plumbing & Heating Co. of Eveleth was authorized to draw plans and specifications for a ventilating system in the Lincoln school.

The special committee appointed in the past to report on the advisability of plastering the auditorium in the Washington school said it should not be done owing to the lack of funds.

The building committee made a verbal report on repairs under way. These included the new domestic science kitchen, plastering the manual training rooms, fixing the steps at the entrance of the Washington building, fixing boilers, etc. The committee further reported that outside of these repairs there was nothing else demanding attention except the painting of the exteriors of the school buildings. The board could not paint all buildings this year. The building committee was authorized to have the Washington building painted and to receive bids for the work.

Bids were opened on supplying coal for the coming year, and the Mahlum Lumber Co. being the lowest bidder it was awarded the contract.

The teachers committee reported the present janitors for re-election at their present salaries. At the Lincoln building the board increased the salary of Andrew Anderson, the janitor, $10 a month and owing to the fact that more space is needed for the school, Anderson is to leave his present quarters after September 1 and reside outside the school grounds.

The building committee was authorized to advertise for bids for the installation of the plumbing system at the Harrison building as soon as the city officials demonstrated that the sewers would be put in. The payrolls were allowed and the meeting adjourned.

THE DEAF AND DUMB MAN

Superior Telegram Editorial of H. C. Stivers Comments on the Case in Brainerd

In a recent issue of the Superior Telegram, H. C. Stivers, in an editorial says:

A deaf and dumb man soliciting financial aid, perhaps the same one who visited Superior recently, recovered his hearing and power of speech at Brainerd, Minn., the other day. On being arrested on suspicion of having participated in a robbery there, he found his voice and a tremendous flow of protesting words at the same time. However, he was lodged in jail, and his picture was taken for the rogue's gallery.

DRUNKEN MOB STIRS UP ROW

Special to Dispatch:

Loerch, Minn., July 8.—Barricaded in his boarding house and surrounded by a drunken mob of Finnish railway laborers at Loerch, a small station on the Northern Pacific railway six miles east of Brainerd, Fred Bechler put in a call this morning for help and a posse from Brainerd went to the town to save the man from being killed. The trouble arose because the Finns persisted in boarding after having been discharged from work and the boarding house man, it is reported, got tired of carrying them. Armed with rifles a posse from Brainerd was rushed out to Loerch.

POLICE GET ON A POSSE

Ride Out in Three Autos to Loerch and Stop the Riot Brewing Out There

FOUR FINNS WERE ARRESTED

Chief Quinn, Officer Scott and Eight Citizens With Rifles Stop Fight

When the call for help came from Loerch, Sheriff Reid and Deputy Sheriff Theorin being at Crosby tracing down the murder case, Chief of Police Quinn got busy and organized a posse. In three automobiles Chief S. W. Quinn, Officer Scott, S. P. Coffrain, Art White, R. M. Sheets, Charles Sherlund, Pete Rosko, Will Britton, W. H. Crowell, City Engineer C. D. Peacock and W. J. Magnan, all armed with high power rifles, whirled down the road to Loerch. At the railway camp they found an angry mob around the foreman's quarters.

Sonny Coffrain, who fought in the Philippines and is used to brush fighting, perched on the top of an automobile covering the mob. The rest of the posse lined up on the ground with their guns in position.

W. H. Crowell and Chief Quinn talked with Foreman F. B. Berglund and his wife. It appears that the dispute involving the camp of Finnish railway laborers arose over wages and the paying of board. The foreman had discharged some men yesterday and the whole gang quit.

The Finns chased the foreman into the camp kitchen, threw rocks at him, injured the male cook and armed with rocks, clubs and knives the twenty-five made things look serious and a call was sent in for help from Brainerd.

The sight of the rifles and the prompt arrival of the Brainerd delegation quickly subdued the mob spirit. Mrs. Berglund pointed out the ring leaders and four who had been active in battering the house with rocks were arrested and taken to Brainerd where a hearing will be had this afternoon.

"IF MAN HAD A TAIL"

Said Chicago Professor, "He Would Wag It," Claims Evolution Proves It

Chicago, July 8.—"Man once wore a tail," asserted Elliot Downing, assistant professor in the University of Chicago, in a lecture yesterday in which he defended the theories of the evolution of man.

"The fact that man has all the equipment necessary to wag a tail is evidence of his evolution from the ape," said the professor. "Why should he have all the tail muscles if he hadn't once had a tail?"

He said there are 198 useless bits of organism in man's bodily composition that he once made use of.

RIPPED OPEN HIS BANK

$650 Sewed in Shoulder of Jewelry Worker's Coat Falls Easy Prey to Thieves

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Thinking that abstinence from participation in card games in the smoking room, pools on the daily run of the ship and attempts to make financially secure the future of each steward aboard would enable him to travel from Russia to New York with his $650 intact, Max Mortreich, a jewelry worker, sewed the money into the shoulder of his coat before he started.

But so true is it that excess of caution is just about as bad as no caution at all that when the jewelry worker landed he was without assets. Some fellow passenger on board the President Grant had cut a hole in the padded shoulder.

Mortreich asked the police and the immigration authorities to assist him in getting his money back. While the police said they would like to extend any encouragement in their power, they were forced to the conclusion that the $650 was gone.

SCHOOL BOARD CONSIDERS PARKS

Board Takes up Proposition Broached by the Park Commissioners at Last Meeting

TO IMPROVE LINCOLN SCHOOL

Ventilating System to be Installed—Washington School to be Painted

At the regular school board meeting all members were present except Messrs. Wise and Mollanen and Rev. E. Carlson. Vice President Geo. D. LaBar presided.

Members of the park board, Messrs. Adair, Strickler and Linnemann, appeared before the school board and asked that some plan be carried out in conjunction with the city council and city attorney to use the sixth street school lots and grounds in Southeast and Northeast Brainerd for park purposes. The school board appointed a committee of one member from each of the first, third, fourth and fifth wards, being Messrs. Purdy, Hohman, Barron and McCloskey, to act with the city council and city attorney.

The Northern Plumbing & Heating Co. of Eveleth was authorized to draw plans and specifications for a ventilating system in the Lincoln school.

The special committee appointed in the past to report on the advisability of plastering the auditorium in the Washington school said it should not be done owing to the lack of funds.

The building committee made a verbal report on repairs under way. These included the new domestic science kitchen, plastering the manual training rooms, fixing the steps at the entrance of the Washington building, fixing boilers, etc. The committee further reported that outside of these repairs there was nothing else demanding attention except the painting of the exteriors of the school buildings. The board could not paint all buildings this year. The building committee was authorized to have the Washington building painted and to receive bids for the work.

Bids were opened on supplying coal for the coming year, and the Mahlum Lumber Co. being the lowest bidder it was awarded the contract.

The teachers committee reported the present janitors for re-election at their present salaries. At the Lincoln building the board increased the salary of Andrew Anderson, the janitor, $10 a month and owing to the fact that more space is needed for the school, Anderson is to leave his present quarters after September 1 and reside outside the school grounds.

The building committee was authorized to advertise for bids for the installation of the plumbing system at the Harrison building as soon as the city officials demonstrated that the sewers would be put in. The payrolls were allowed and the meeting adjourned.

CHAMBERLAIN'S DEATH ENDS UNIQUE CAREER.

The Remarkable Personality of England's Late Famous Political Leader and Great Parliamentary Debater.

Intensely Ambitious, Immaculate In Dress, Disdainer of Exercise and Passionately Devoted to Orchids.

By WALTON WILLIAMS.

At the time of the Boer war Joseph Chamberlain was referred to as the "best hated man on earth."

He was bitterly assailed by the Liberal and Labor parties in his own land, he was called a Judas by the Irish, he was universally detested on the continent, the Boers hated him as the destroyer of their nation, and even the British Conservatives, with whom he was then acting, regarded him with distrust and deplored his indiscretions. In America he was not popular, although he married an American wife and had been described by Gladstone as the first of the American school of politicians in England. Only in the colonies was Mr. Chamberlain regarded with any great degree of favor, and this was because of his large conception of the British empire and his desire to exalt the greater England beyond the shores of the "right little, tight little isle."

The career of Chamberlain is as unique as his personality. Starting as a red republican who wanted to change the king to a president, to obliterate classes and to give the poor an equal chance and an equal voice in affairs, he ended by being in all essentials a Conservative and an imperialist of imperialists. Without a university education, he grew to be the greatest debater in parliament and a potent force in the party in which a Cambridge or Oxford training counts for most. A man who made his fortune in trade, he was at the last the accepted leader of the idle nobility that anathematizes trade. Serving in both Liberal and Conservative cabinets, he resigned from each in turn to lead what seemed a forlorn hope on a question of principle.

A Chapter of Paradoxes.

In the pink of physical health up till within a few years of his death, Chamberlain took no exercise, had no pastimes other than his orchid gardens and taboos sports. Entering parliament as an extreme radical whom those who did not know him expected to be of the rough, uncouth and hairy type, he surprised them all by appearing in immaculate dress, with the inevitable monocle and orchid boutonniere, dapper, slim, elegant and pale of face. A capitalist in politics, he started his career by being mayor of Birmingham and as such bringing about all sorts of municipal ownership. An employer of labor, he appeared as the champion of labor and held his workmen constituency in Birmingham through all his changes of party, loyal even to his death. Passionately devoted to orchids, he said that he did not particularly care for the flower, but only wanted to raise better ones than anybody else. Intensely ambitious, he never succeeded in reaching the premiership or even the chancellorship of the exchequer, which it is said he coveted even more, but lived to see his son chancellor and apparently on the road to higher honors. This son, by the way, is almost the exact duplicate of his father, with the same dress, figure, monocle and orchid, and at a distance was often mistaken for the elder. The two worked together in perfect accord, and it is impossible that Austen Chamberlain will some day land the premiership that "Brummagem Joe" missed.

Joseph Chamberlain was born in London in 1836 and belonged to a middle class provincial family. He had a good school education and entered early in life his father's firm of wood screw makers at Birmingham. As soon as he got into politics he became noted for his advanced radical opinions and his ability as a speaker. In 1873 he was made mayor of Birmingham and was twice successively re-elected. From this borough he was sent to parliament in 1876, and his large services to Birmingham will not soon be forgotten in the midland counties. Mr. Chamberlain subsequently served in the second Gladstone cabinet, but in 1886 he withdrew from the third cabinet of Mr. Gladstone, refusing to follow him in his Irish policy. The same year he was returned to parliament as a Liberal-Unionist and became the able, shaping leader of that party. In Lord Salisbury's third cabinet he consented to take office as the secretary of the colonies, being continued in the cabinet of Mr. Balfour. As such he was the most prominent figure in the Boer war, after the close of which he resigned to advocate protection, with preferential duties for the colonies.

Political Epithets.

The high plane upon which political discussion proceeds in England is indicated by the epithets applied to Chamberlain. Some of them follow: "The artful dodger," "imperial knave," "political hamstringer," "miserable trickster," "great panjandrum," "mugwump," "smug face," "imperial bagman," "imperial trickster," "hungry nose," "brummagem bagman," "impudent trickster," "lie factor," "crafty muddler," "lying campaigner," "little loafer," "vulgar rauter," "red herring trailer," "colossal humbug," "red handed despot," "bankrupt statesman."

JOHN LARSON

"Slippery Tellow," "Republican sumbster," "crafty animal," "Red Herring Joe." It has been more than twenty years since the world at large called him "Brummagem Joe." It was a hard epithet. Brummagem is worthless or very inferior metallic articles made in imitation of better ones, and Birmingham is the great mart and manufactory of gewgaws, gift toys, cheap jewelry, imitation gems, mosaic gold and such like.

Mr. Chamberlain's business ability was so great that his firm became paramount in the trade, and in eighteen years his fortune was so considerable that he retired from business to devote himself to municipal affairs. He had three wives. Each of his marriages was tinged with romance. His closest friend was William Kenrick, and William had a beautiful sister, Harriet Kenrick and Mary Chamberlain were as devoted as their brothers, and the upshot of this general affection was that Joe Chamberlain married Harriet and William Kenrick married Mary.

Third Wife an American.

The first Mrs. Chamberlain died in two years, and "Brummagem Joe" took for a second wife her cousin, Florence Kenrick, who left him a widow after seven years of uxorial devotion. There being no more Kenricks available just then, England's colonial secretary remained alone for thirteen long years, wedded only to his political dogmas. In 1887, while visiting the United States as chairman of the fisheries commission (Bering sea), he met the daughter of Mr. Cleveland's secretary of war, Judge Endicott, fell in love at first sight and, notwithstanding his fifty-two years, induced her to become his third wife.

Just as Chamberlain was the best hated he was also the best cartooned man on the planet. It will be seen from the following selection that Mr. Chamberlain's protean character did not lack recognition. He was represented as, among other things, a pirate, a carrot, a boat, a missionary, a Salvation Army officer, a juggler, William Pitt, a coster, Napoleon, a ballet girl, a terrier, a candlestick, a Chinaman, Mr. Mantalini, Mr. Turveytop, a clock, Betsy Prig, a nigger minstrel, a pierrot, a bishop, a red Indian, a Roman emperor, a Turkish pasha, a snake, a swordfish, a king, a snow man, a trapeze artist, a dead baby, a champion walker, a mad hatter, Br'er Fox, a settee, a blind beggar, a prizefighter and, apart from these, as almost every animal known to zoology.

A Biting Wit.

Chamberlain was always noted as a difficult statesman to interview for a newspaper.

One day while talking with a friend in a London hotel he was approached by a diffident young man with the timid question:

"May I speak with you for a moment?"

"Certainly," said the minister. "I can't say to here," said the youth. "Let us go to one side."

The bashful young man led Chamberlain into a dark corner, where he explained:

"I am on the staff of the — and would like to get your views on the Transvaal question."

"Very well," said the statesman, with a dark and mysterious look. "Come with me."

He led the young man reporter through several corridors and rooms to the darkest corner he could find, and then, after looking about carefully to see that the coast was clear of possible eavesdroppers, Chamberlain whispered this piece of information:

"My friend, I really don't know anything about it."

When Chamberlain was a Liberal he was quite as biting in his wit at the expense of the Conservatives as he afterward became in grilling the Liberals. One instance is yet talked of in parliament. It occurred just after the return of Lord Salisbury from his negotiations with Bismarck. Salisbury's speeches in the house of commons, so it is said, contained a number of "ifs," and this gave the cue to Mr. Chamberlain for one of those retorts which raised him in the forefront of debaters. During a speech in the house he said:

"What the honorable gentleman has said reminds me of a rhyme I learned from my nurse:

"If all the seas were broad and cheese,
If all the rivers were ink,
If all the lakes were currant cakes,
What should we have to drink?"

In his Sunday school days Mr. Chamberlain wore an eyeglass, but no orchid. He always kept on his hat and overcoat and carried his umbrella while teaching. He was fond of walking about the room as he taught, and when, as sometimes happened, one of the tired factory lads in his class showed unmistakable signs of drowsiness the teacher would point with his umbrella to the sleepy boy and say: "Good night, Jones! I have no objection to your going to sleep, only please don't snore."

Chamberlain was distinguished for many things, and one was his aversion to other physical exertion than that necessarily involved in making a speech. William M. Everts was asked some years before his death what was his explanation of his hale old age. "I do not know," he replied, "unless it is that I take the least possible physical exercise." Mr. Chamberlain might have said the same thing in view of his apparent youthfulness at the age of seventy. He had no physical diversions. He disdained exercise. Climbing stairs was an abomination to him. He would take a bus rather than walk a single block. Here is his own statement:

"I do not cycle. I do not ride. I do not walk when I can help it. I do not play cricket. I do not play football. I do not play tennis. I do not even play golf, which I have been assured is an indispensable condition of statesmanship."

Looked Like a "Ladies' Doctor."

The following is Justin McCarthy's famous description of Mr. Chamberlain's first appearance in the house of commons:

"I can well remember the sensation which his first speech in the house of commons created among the ranks of the Tories after his election to parliament as one of the representatives of Birmingham. The good Tories made no effort to conceal their astonishment at the difference between the real Chamberlain and the Chamberlain of their earlier imaginings. Judging from his political speeches, they had set him down as a wild republican, and they expected to see a rough and shaggy man, dressed with an uncouth disregard for the ways of society, who would probably scowl fiercely at his opponents in the house and would deliver his opinions in tones of thunder. The man who rose to address the house was a pale, slender, delicate looking and closely shaven personage, very neatly dressed, with short and carefully brushed hair and wearing a dainty eyeglass constantly fixed in his eye."

"He looks like a ladies' doctor," one stout Tory murmured.

Played With Fire Balls.

For many centuries polo, or chaugan, as it was then called, was a favorite pastime with Asiatic rulers. A contemporary annalist records of Akbar, the greatest of Mogul emperors, that "he plays at chaugan on dark nights, the balls being set on fire. For the sake of adding splendor to the game his majesty has knobs of gold and silver fixed to the chaugan sticks. If one of these breaks any player that gets hold of the pieces may keep them."

THE bath which follows strenuous exercise is the most thorough test of any soap. Then the pores are wide open and the skin is sore and chafed from perspiration.

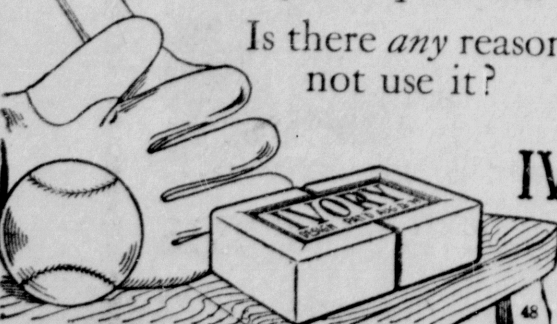

If the soap contains "free" alkali or strong ingredients of any kind it cannot help but smart, burn and irritate. Nothing but pure, high grade soap can give satisfaction at such a time.

Ivory Soap has been in general use for years at the leading colleges and athletic clubs. Its freedom from alkali, its mildness, its purity and its extremely high grade of materials are beyond question.

Is there any reason why you should not use it?

CHAMBERLAIN'S DEATH ENDS UNIQUE CAREER.

The Remarkable Personality of England's Late Famous Political Leader and Great Parliamentary Debater.

Intensely Ambitious, Immaculate In Dress, Disdainer of Exercise and Passionately Devoted to Orchids.

By WALTON WILLIAMS.

At the time of the Boer war Joseph Chamberlain was referred to as the "best hated man on earth."

He was bitterly assailed by the Liberal and Labor parties in his own land, he was called a Judas by the Irish, he was universally detested on the continent, the Boers hated him as the destroyer of their nation, and even the British Conservatives, with whom he was then acting, regarded him with distrust and deplored his indiscretions. In America he was not popular, although he married an American wife and had been described by Gladstone as the first of the American school of politicians in England. Only in the colonies was Mr. Chamberlain regarded with any great degree of favor, and this was because of his large conception of the British empire and his desire to exalt the greater England beyond the shores of the "right little, tight little isle."

The career of Chamberlain is as unique as his personality. Starting as a republican who wanted to change the king to a president, to obliterate classes and to give the poor an equal chance and an equal voice in affairs, he ended by being in all essentials a Conservative and an imperialist of imperialists. THE bath which follows strenuous exercise is the most thorough test of any soap. Then the pores are wide open and the skin is sore and chafed from perspiration.

If the soap contains "free" alkali or strong ingredients of any kind it cannot help but smart, burn and irritate. Nothing but pure, high grade soap can give satisfaction at such a time.

Ivory Soap has been in general use for years at the leading colleges and athletic clubs. Its freedom from alkali, its mildness, its purity and its extremely high grade of materials are beyond question.

Is there any reason why you should not use it?
